ALEXANDRIA, VA - Terry L. Perry, FIIDA, Director of Interiors at Wisnewski Blair & Associates in Alexandria, VA, was elected King of the Builders' Ball at the National Building Museum on November 8, 2008.

The Builders' Ball occurs every two years and brings together the talents of the construction, design and real estate industries in the Washington, DC Metropolitan Area. In addition to providing dinner, dancing and networking opportunities to the guests, the event raises money for local charities through sponsorships and donations.

Perry and the eight other members of the royal court campaigned for their title by requesting donations where one dollar equated to one vote. Together, all of the candidates raised $32,000.

Charities benefiting from the 2008 Builders' Ball include Covenant House Washington, Jewish Foundation for Group Homes, Perry School Community Services Center, and CANstruction.
